

Our Missionaries to Peru: Kim and Carolyn Fowler

Wycliffe Bible Translators Kim and Carolyn Fowler have been supported by our church since September of 2004. They live in a town in Peru called Pucallpa, and minister primarily to the Yora people. As they continue the work of Bible translation, they have had opportunities to directly minister and witness to the Yoras. They are currently working with two young couples in the translation effort, and have been impressed by their intense interest and their sharp minds. Carolyn writes, “The two couples have been living in a small house that we have for the Yoras right next to us. The four adults have lived and worked together in a remarkable way. They have been motivated and have worked very hard. One of these adults is Ninafa, a young man that the Fowlers had taught to read and write. Ninafa is now the president of his village - imagine the impact he may one day make in the lives of his people! Please pray for the Fowlers – they have really seen the hand of God at work in their ministry but it is not without continual challenges!
